Quanta Computer Chooses Call Management Products, Inc. to Distribute Syspine, a Microsoft Response Point Phone System in the U.S.

(Broomfield, CO) – February 27, 2008 - Quanta Computer Inc., the largest computer notebook ODM company in the world, announces that Call Management Products, Inc. will be the primary U.S. distributor of their newest product, Syspine, an all-in-one Internet Protocol (IP) phone system powered by Microsoft® Response Point™ software. (NASDAQ: MSFT).

Call Management Products, Inc. (CMP), located in Broomfield, CO, was founded in 1988 by former Bell Laboratory engineers. CMP manufactures and distributes high quality telecommunication products that are designed to enhance telephone line productivity and provide cost savings for home or business.

“Call Management Products is the perfect company to distribute our Syspine phone system,” said Mike Yang, Vice President of Quanta Computer Inc. “They are well recognized throughout the United States as a leader in the expanding world of telecommunications technology and most importantly, they understand the needs of the small business owner.”

Designed specifically for small businesses with up to 50 phones, Syspine is a single box solution that will accommodate up to eight standard telephone lines, Internet calling, and an optional VPN connection.

Powered by Microsoft Response Point software, Syspine offers voice-activated commands, voicemail to e-mail forwarding, Microsoft Office Outlook® contact integration, multi-site applications, and voice enabled Auto Attendant. No training or certification is needed to install the silent, fan-less console that can be placed anywhere in an office.

“We are honored to be aligned with such prestigious companies as Quanta Computer and Microsoft,” said Frank Melville, president of Call Management Products, Inc. “Syspine is a perfect complement to our range of high quality telecommunication products and one that will be well received among our resellers and, of course, small business owners.”

Small business owners may order Syspine online at www.cmpintel.com or contact CMP directly at 877-427-9774.
